Council to tackle Reed Reforms during evening session Move allows for greater public participation in Reform package discussion

San Jose CA – Thursday, January 4, 2007. The Reed Reforms, scheduled to go before the City Council on Tuesday, January 9 has been moved from the afternoon session to the evening session to allow for greater public participation in the discussion. The evening session begins at 7 PM and the Reforms are scheduled for the evening agenda.

“A big part of the reforms is returning city government to the people of San Jose,” said Mayor Chuck Reed. “It only makes sense that the discussion and actions by the council on these items take place at a time when we can maximize public participation.”

The Reed Reforms are a series of actions to help instill honesty, fiscal responsibility and open government into the culture of city hall.
